our university only accepts online applications !!! Do not apply via email !

next intake: for next semester starting: 01/09/2018 (01. September 2018) application deadline: online application: around 09. - 20. April 2018 during the application process, ensure to select the correct graduate school :

Professional Graduate School: Biomedical Science and Engineering

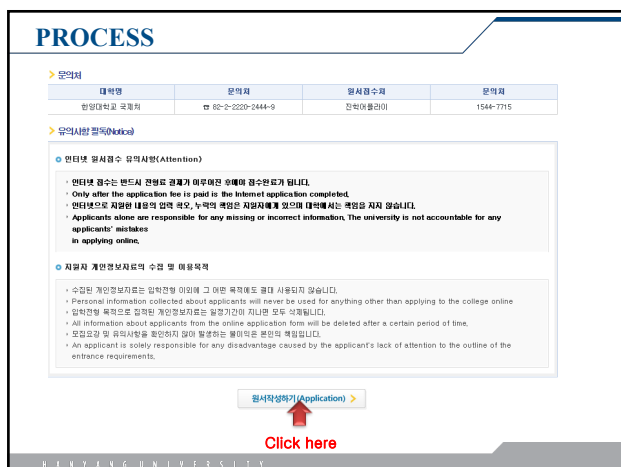

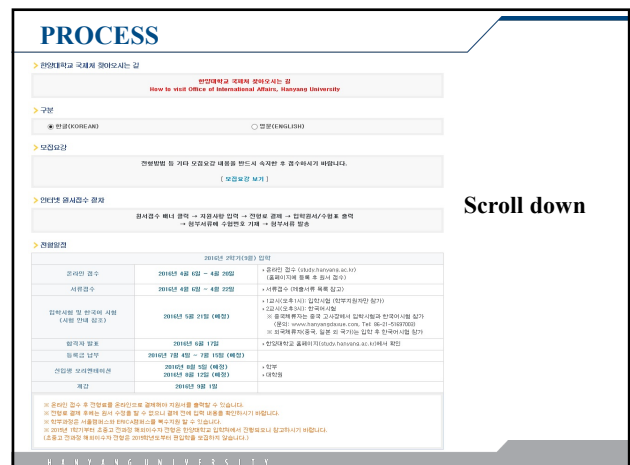

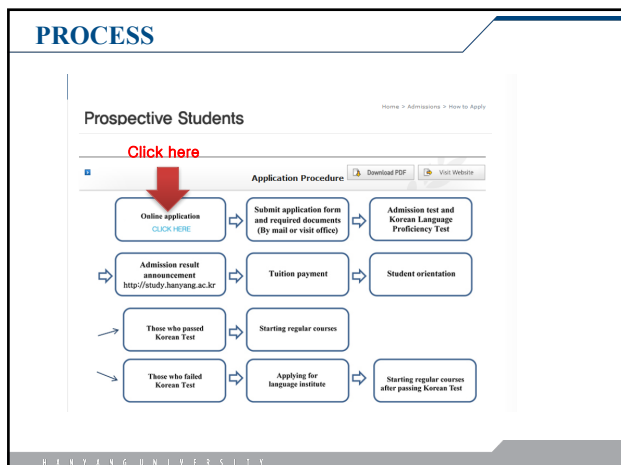

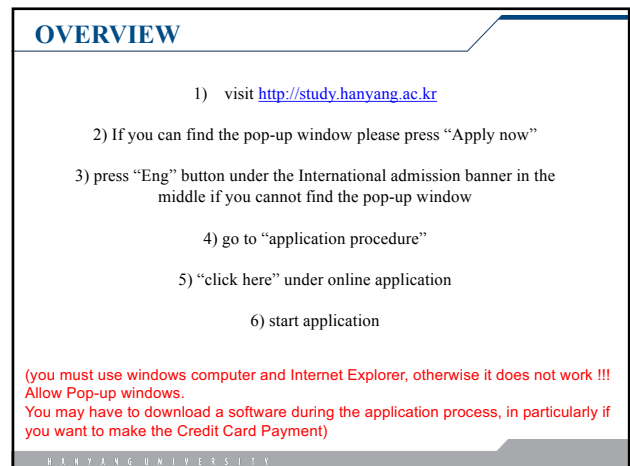

(not Graduate school department Engineering, and also not Graduate school department science) your first selection must be :

Professional Graduate School: Biomedical Science and Engineering

Under this, there might be another sub-selection (Science or Engineering – here you select Science !) -- you may need to select as Major: Science (not Engineering because it may affect later the courses you can select) - Once you have decided the department, you cannot change it anymore !!!

In addition, to be on a more save side, you should mention the name Prof Klaus Heese wherever it might be possible, e.g. on or near the top of the application form and in cover letter and/or research proposal letter.

Scholarship application during the application process:

1) HYU scholarship provides 50% coverage for international engineering and science students – you must apply for this. You will be automatically enrolled in this competition.

2) while you may also apply for HISP in parallel – but the HISP is extremely difficult to secure and requires a GPA of >90 or >95% - it is usually easier to get by students from Humanities If your grades are very excellent you can try to apply in parallel for this HISP (Hanyang International Scholarship Program) which covers then 100% tuition fees. You must apply for this separately during the online application – you need to make a tick during online application at the indicated place otherwise you are not competing with others for it !!! because you are NOT automatically enrolled for this competition.

3) Other option is the International scholarship for the combined MSc/PhD program, - it may cover between 50-100% tuition fees. You can apply for this in parallel to the scholarship mentioned under 1) (but you need then to go for the combined MSc/PhD program !) – it is highly recommended to go for this program because it costs you the same time as if you would go for PhD only as there would be the same requirements in terms of research – you must publish 3 SCI papers. Academic requirements are a bit more, but that is minor problem anyway and won't really affect you. As a strategy it is highly recommended to apply for the combined MSc/PhD program because the chances to get full tuition fee coverage is higher compared with the normal PhD program – and the time you need to get your PhD or combined MSc/PhD is actually the same and depends on the time and efforts you spend on your research. The academic credits you need are more for MSc/PhD but all can be done within 3-4 (max 5) years. The time depends on your efforts and the time you spend on research. You will be automatically enrolled in this competition if you opt for the combined MSc/PhD program.

4) KGSP (giving excellent scholarship money support); but probably only open once a year for the application period around April for the intake in September – for more details regarding this scholarship, see further down ! it is hard to predict the chance to get it, seems to be highly competitive and it might be better to apply via Korean embassy (or consulate) in your home country.

Other infos:

English TOEFL test (or similar) is highly recommended to give English knowledge proof – exception might be possible by personal interview (online / Skype) - If you have TOEFL or something like that, then it helps, but it is not mandatory ... you have to take then here some basic biology class given by an American professor (native speaker) ...

Questions regarding Research:

Contact: Prof. Klaus Heese

KGSP info:

Check also alternative scholarship options with better scholarship (though you need to pass first a Korean language course before embarking on the MSc and/or PhD course):

Korean government scholarship is basically much better as it covers tuition fees and living costs and small but some pocket money – but requires also 1 year Korean language course before starting a combined MSc/PhD program or PhD only program (the combined MSc/PhD program has higher chances for obtaining 100% tuition fee coverage scholarship).

<http://www.niied.go.kr/eng/contents.do?contentsNo=78&menuNo=349>

a) if you can only secure a scholarship that covers your tuition fees, then living costs would need to be covered by our research grants which is limited and thus also competitive ... if you have private personal support (for tuition fees and/or living costs, e.g. by your parents) then your chances for admission are also a bit higher.

b) you may also check with your local Ministry of Science about options of support – any support (e.g. for living) is better than no support!

A research proposal, if needed, could be provided from our side. However, it is recommended to come up with some ideas from your side though you may not do this project but it shows us your science understanding ...

Here at HYU, in our groups, you would need to do bio-computational and/or wet lab research and/or combined.

Here, for your PhD graduation, the requirements are usually to publish during your PhD time 3 papers in journals that are indexed as SCI or SCI-E before you can get the PhD degree. That is for all students.

Not too difficult, but requires to be focussed for 3-5 years, depending on your efforts.

Somewhere along the application procedure / process etc 2 more points are mentioned at HYU:

- a) English Test (Toefl or similar): you can be exempted if you can prove your English language qualities to be able to follow English classes and research discussions (e.g. by phone or skype interview) – you may, though, be asked to take extra classes held in English by an American Professor here – anyway, if you join here you are going to take one of his classes because there are not too many classes in English for you.
- b) 10 000 – 15 000 US$ (or similar) money deposit in your family or proxy bank account to show that you can cover living expenditures - you can be exempted somehow if you can secure full scholarship (plus living costs coverage) and our professors' signatures. However, a bank statement is better, if you have it, as it will reduce administrations problems for you and me (or any other prof considering you).

Otherwise it would be argued that study costs and living costs are expected to be covered by scholarships and / or grant funding to be given upon acceptance.
Besides, keep in mind that this bank statement is also supportive for your VISA application !
financial affidavit option:
institution: HYU / IUCF benefits: HYU-scholarship and professor's grant money covering tuition fees and living costs (if accepted)
Professor Klaus Heese

Moreover, be aware that there is an Application fee of about 138,000 won (about 120 USD) – and upon acceptance additional fees such as a 1-time Admission fee plus the usual tuition fee (each semester). All such infos you can find at the provided link shown above.

Please be aware that acceptance/admission goes by competition. In case of rejection, your application fees are gone with the wind ... sorry !

Other questions that may pop up in your mind after filling the application form and preparing for hard-copy sending – though partially already mentioned above:

My personal advice to some more questions (without guarantee) shown below:
keep in mind that some infos are required for VISA approval (in case of admission approval)

1. A certificate authenticating bank balance of over USD 15,000

Should be in the form of a certificate issued by a bank

Submit anything you have, what so ever, ..., later – if admitted , the professor who takes you, will discuss with you and the university how to cover your living costs and tuition fees. If you have any personal (family, friend) support to cover these things for 3-4 years, indicate it clearly as it may help admission.

2. Letter of recommendation (Free format)-Written by a professor from previous university.

Ask your professor(s) to write something for you – it is not really mandatory but helps the professor here to consider to accept you (or not to accept).

3. Copies of the applicant's and both parents' passports

At least you must have a passport to get your VISA and enter Korea, if admitted. Other (parents) passports (if you don't have) may not be required if your living costs are covered – this is all about VISA ... the more you have, the better ...

4. Official document indicating parent-child relationship between the applicant and his/her parents

Birth certificate should be ok

5. Certificate of English language proficiency test score (TOEFL, TOEIC, IELTS, TEPS)

* Applicants for international studies must submit TOEFL IBT 89 and higher, or IELTS 6.5 and higher

If you have a TOEFL or similar, submit it, even it is an older one ... everything you have can increase your chances – what you don't submit can't be considered

Any computer skills (programming etc) ... indicate clearly

A research proposal is helpful too ...

Hanyang University is one of the top universities in South Korea and was established in 1939 as the nation's first private engineering college. Hanyang is nationally renowned for its major role in development of Korea, in the destructive aftermath of Japanese occupation and Korea War. Today, Hanyang graduates can be found in virtually every industry, many serving as executives in companies including Samsung, Hyundai, and POSCO.

Hanyang University is composed of two campuses, one in central Seoul and the other in the city of Ansan on the southern outskirts of Seoul. The Seoul Campus is ranked 2nd and the Ansan campus, referred to as the ERICA* Campus is ranked 8th in the Joong-Ang Daily Korean University Rankings. Over the years, the Seoul Campus has been rapidly transforming to maintain its status as a top university, while the ERICA Campus has been witnessing explosive growth resulting from its specialization in university-industry cooperation.
